

Registration

Registration is only available online via reforc.com and becomes effective on receipt of payment of the registration fee. Registration closes on May 23, 2018.

www.reforc.com

Registration Fees

Refo500 partner, € 105.00
Non-Refo500 partner, € 160.00
Student, Refo500 partner, € 90.00
Student, non-Refo500 partner, € 125.00

The registration fee includes the subscription to the Journal of Early Modern Christianity for 2018 (two issues). This journal is a co-production of De Gruyter and RefoRC.

Cancellation and Refund Policy

Refunds will be made for written cancellations received before March 1, 2018, less a € 30.00 processing fee.

RefoRC is a unique leading international network in the field of studies related to the sixteenth-century Reformation and the academic arm of Refo500. Refo500 is the international platform for knowledge, expertise, ideas, products, and events relating to 500 years of the Reformation.

Conference Venue

Faculty of 'Artes Liberales'
University of Warsaw
Dobra 72, Warsaw, Poland
www.al.uw.edu.pl

Contact for More Information on RefoRC

Anna Vind, secretary
Faculty of Theology,
Section for Church History, Copenhagen
E anna.vind@reforc.com
W reforc.com

Images: Piotr Bocian, Marcin Kluczek, Robert Przybysz, Gdańsk Digital Library, Opole Digital Library

Eighth Annual RefoRC Conference

May 24-26, 2018, Warsaw
Hosted by the University of Warsaw

Plenary lectures:
Reformation and Education

UNIVERSITY OF WARSAW

Short Papers, Panels, and General Attendance

The conference is open to individual short paper presentations (20-minute presentations) and to thematic sessions of two or three short papers. While we encourage papers on the conference theme, papers can also focus on all disciplines related to the sixteenth-century Reformations, such as philosophy, law, history, theology, etc., independent of the theme of the plenary papers.

Short paper proposals are welcome via the registration form on reforc.com before March 1, 2018. It is also possible to attend the conference without giving a paper.

Theme of Plenary Lectures: Reformation and Education

The Reformation was closely tied to the renovation of educational models from its very beginning. By questioning the model of the medieval university and establishing new pedagogical solutions, early modern scholars and teachers shaped subsequent generations of clergy and laity, enabling them to work for their local communities and engage in the public sphere. Often these educational agendas went well beyond changes in curricula and were oriented towards much deeper goals, such as the shaping of confessional identity or the achieving of universal religious peace through the advancement of learning. As one of the leading research and educational institutions in Poland and East-Central Europe, the University of Warsaw is the perfect venue to ask further questions about the complex relations between early modern religious and pedagogical reforms. The plenary papers will offer a multi-faceted approach to this topic and will be accompanied by a series of short papers discussing all kinds of subjects related to the history of the Reformation. The aim of the conference is thus to broaden and contextualize the intersections between religious and educational reform.

Plenary Speakers

Charlotte Appel (Aarhus), Religious Books and Lutheran Piety: Education, Devotional Practices, and the Formation of Confessional Identity in Denmark c. 1530-1700

Michał Choptiany (Warsaw), Education and Reformation in Polish-Lithuanian Commonwealth: Between Tradition and Innovation

Anne Eusterschulte (Berlin), TBA

Willem Frijhoff (Amsterdam), Education High and Low as an Asset of the Catholic Tradition (Late 15th-17th centuries)

Torrance Kirby (Montreal), Educating the Public in Tudor London: Outdoor Sermons at Paul's Cross

Lucie Storchová (Prague), Post Praeceptorum Germaniae: Transfer of Melancthon's Natural Philosophy to Bohemian Lands from the 1540s onwards

